Guest Artists Introduction:

- Next up, we have a very special treat... This particular song held a lot of meaning for Jae and for me.
- In fact, there's a YouTube video, which you may or may not have seen, highlighting musician IZ, and his ashes being spread over the ocean, while featuring a huge, beautiful rainbow...
- When we were in Hawaii, our last big adventure together, I took Jae's picture while on a dinner cruise, and right behind her was a gorgeous rainbow, which you are now seeing up on the big screen.
- Less than a year later, on a rare night that Jae was feeling better, we went out for dinner down in Dana Point. Afterwards, we walked around the Lantern District and decided to stop in a local music store, where I fell in love with a lovely soprano ukelele. As I was tinkering with it, I hear this voice behind me: "Would you like me to tune that for you?" I said, "Sure!"
- And then, this kind gentleman, who happened to own the music store, began playing the Hawaiian version of Over The Rainbow. At which point we all started jamming on that tune, harmonizing and making some spontaneous magic together! That was a moment in time that I will always remember fondly... a moment that Jae and I took with us in our hearts and souls...
- Somewhere over the Rainbow was one of Jae's favorite songs. So now...
- I'd like to bring to the stage, some talented guest artists, for a very special dedication to her...
  - Please welcome:
    - Dan Lefler, of Danmans Music & Rhonda Bateman, of Blossom in Dana Point
